
ga 771 I've got a very strange problem. I'm able to play MKV videos with no problem, but when I try to play a m4v file, I get an error. But then I play the same m4v file in VLC, with no problems, and I've tried to burn it on a CD-R and I've tried to copy it using a USB stick, I don't know what the problem is. I've tried a lot of things. I've tried creating a different folder, I've tried to burn it again, I've tried another USB stick, I've tried a different CD-R, the problem is the same. When I try to play it, I get an error message: "I can't read this disk, it may have been written by another program". I've tried to find a solution for it, but I'm a beginner at Ubuntu and I've tried a lot of things, I don't know what I'm doing wrong. I've also tried the tutorial here, but it didn't work out for me. Please help me to solve this problem, it's really annoying. I'm trying to learn Ubuntu. A: You can try installing the GStreamer package and using the VLC video plugin for Totem. I'm not sure how you installed Totem, but if you're using the Ubuntu Software Center, make sure you click the bottom option that says "Installed (local or obsolete)" and you'll see a list of installed video plugins. If you installed Totem manually, you'll have to find that list of video plugins yourself. Check /usr/lib/gstreamer-0.10/ (search for plugins.) After installing GStreamer, restart Totem and go to Edit -> Preferences -> Plugins. In the Video tab, there should be an option for "GStreamer Video Plugin" (if you have it installed.) It may take some time to be ready. I was surprised that it did not show up after just installing it. If it doesn't appear, try restarting and searching for it in the list.
